To Whom It May Concern,

The Communication Sciences and Disorders program at West Chester University supports the Audiology & Speech-Language Pathology Interstate Compact (ASLP-IC). We value the benefits that come from such a compact that include options for service delivery models offered via telepractice, access and choice of audiology and speech-language pathology providers, and portability and access to services across state lines.

We offer our commitment to the ASLP-IC as a supporting organization.

Sincerely,
